THE PEACE JUBILEE

Remarkable Demonstration at Atlanta with a Civic and Military Parade and Rejoicing.

OVATION GIVEN PRESIDENT

McKinley Makes a Speech Deprecating Any Turning Aside from Duty Imposed Upon the Country by Its Own Great Needs.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 15.—The second day of the peace jubilee opened auspiciously. The weather was warm, the crowds enormous. President McKinley's speech having relation to the care of confederate dead had fired the hearts of southerners with admiration for the chief executive.

A feature of today was the civic and military parade of this afternoon. Six thousand infantry, 10,000 school children, 400 carriages containing 1,600 people, 1,000 members of secret orders and 1,000 laboring men took part. The president and other distinguished guests in carriages were at the head of the parade, escorted by the 3d New Jersey and 15th Pennsylvania regiments, and the president was compelled to bow almost continuously to cheers. A row of welcome denoted the position of General Joe Wheeler and the band of cavalrymen who followed him through the civil war. Arriving at Ponce de Leon avenue, the presidential party reviewed the parade.

President McKinley addressed the public in the Auditorium at Piedmont park today. The building, which has a seating capacity of 10,000, was jammed. President W. A. Hemphill, of the Jubilee association, was master of ceremonies. Major Collier and Governor Candler welcomed the distinguished party to Georgia, and the president was then given a tremendous ovation by the audience. He then said: "Thus far we have done our supreme duty. Shall we now, when the victory won in war is written in a treaty of peace, and the civilized world applauds and waits in expectation, turn timidly away from duties imposed upon the country by its own great needs? And when mista fade and we see with clear vision, may we not go forth rejoicing in the strength which has been employed solely for humanity and always been tempered with justice and mercy, confident in our ability to meet the exigencies which await us, because confident that our course is one of duty and our cause that of right."

FATHER OF WATERS

Senate Committee Report That Timber Destruction Does Not Necessarily Occasion Its Floods.

LEVEE SYSTEM IS THE THING

National Board of Trade Favorable to Building the Nicaragua Canal—House Will Take Holiday Recess December 21 to January 4.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The senate committee on commerce today agreed upon the report of the sub-committee appointed under the resolution of March 1897, to report upon Mississippi river floods, their causes and prevention.

The report was prepared by Senator Nelson, chairman of the sub-committee. In regard to the cutting of timber at the head waters of streams, the committee says: "Nothing in the evidence or other data obtained by your committee discloses the fact that the destruction of timber at or near the head waters of these river systems tends to cause or promote the floods referred to." The committee finds relief from floods by means of reservoirs or new outlets is not feasible, hence, only through properly constructed levees can the proper relief be secured. The committee furnishes the estimated cost of completing a levee system from the head of St. Francis basin to the head of the passes, putting it at $18,000,000 to $20,000,000. The committee says, the commerce of the Mississippi valley asks and is entitled to a much deeper and broader channel to the sea than is now afforded or likely to be afforded by the south pass. An improvement of the south west pass and the use of both is suggested.

Senator Vest made a personal explanation of the purpose of which was that he received a letter from Attorney General Griggs, denying that at a banquet he had, as quoted, expressed an opinion that the constitution made for 13 half developed colonies could not reasonably be expected to meet the demand of the greatest nation in the world. Senator Morgan presented a memorial from the national board of trade favorable to building the Nicaragua canal. Senator Allen objected to printing the memorial in the Congressional Record, and Morgan accepted the objection as an effort to obstruct legislation for the canal to prevent the country's securing information on the subject. Senator Allen presented the memorial, saying he favored the canal on general principles, though advocating a government ownership. He predicted the canal would cost $500,000,000.

THE HOUSE.

The ways and means committee of the house today agreed to adopt a resolution for a holiday recess from December 21 to January 4.

Mr. Barney (Republican Wisconsin) called up the pension appropriation bill. Mr. Allen (Democrat Mississippi) of the appropriations committee, called attention to the fact that when he came to congress 14 years ago, the pension appropriation bill invariably precipitated a bloody shirt discussion. He congratulated the country that there had been no acrimonious discussion on this bill. "And I congratulate the country," said Mr. Allen, "that while one of the most gallant and desperate soldiers of the confederacy helped to report this bill, the president of the United States is down in Dixie doing honor to the confederate dead. We all have cause to rejoice."

There was no further debate. The bill was read through without criticism and passed. The whole time occupied in its consideration being less than 20 minutes. The bill carries $145,233,830.

PECULIAR POISONS.

GENERATED IN THE HUMAN BODY

The Result of Imperfect Digestion of Food.

Every living thing, plant or animal, contains within itself the germs of certain decay and death.

In the human body these germs of disease and death (called by scientists ptomaines), are usually the result of imperfect digestion of food; the result of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The stomach, from abuse, weakness, does not promptly and thoroughly digest the food. The result is a heavy, solid mass which ferments (the first process of decay) poisoning the blood, making it thin, weak and lacking in red corpuscles; poisoning the brain causing headaches and pain in the eyes.

Bad digestion irritates the heart, causing palpitation and finally bringing on disease of this very important organ.

Poor digestion poisons the kidneys, causing Bright's disease and diabetes.

And this is so because every organ, every nerve depends upon the stomach alone for nourishment and renewal, and weak digestion shows itself not only in loss of appetite and flesh, but in weak nerves and muddy complexion.

The great English scientist, Huxley, said the best start in life is a sound stomach. Weak stomachs fail to digest food properly, because they lack the proper quantity of digestive acids (lactic and hydrochloric) and pepsinogen products; the most sensible remedy in all cases of indigestion, is to take after each meal one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply in a pleasant, harmless form all the elements that weak stomachs lack.

The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will cure every form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

They increase flesh, insure pure blood, strong nerves, a bright eye and clear complexion, because all these result only from wholesome food well digested.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents full sized package, or by mail by enclosing price to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., but ask your druggist first.
